

AGED MR. STRATTON FOUND HIMSELF.

The Eccentric Octogenarian Had Sought Out the Home of His Young Wife.

Had Been Separated Since He Was Charged with Attempting to Starve Her.

DENIES THAT SHE ABDUCTED HIM.

The Daughter with Whom He Had Been Living Worried When Her Father Wandered Away and Could Not Be Found.

Elphie Stratton, the Brooklyn octogenarian, for whom the police sent out a general alarm a few days ago, was found yesterday in the apartments of his young wife at No. 139 South Oxford street.

Mr. Stratton is eighty-six years old, and is both wealthy and eccentric. He has disappeared twice before since his eighty-fourth birthday, and on both occasions appeals have been made to the police to find him. For the past few years he has made his home with his daughter, Mrs. Hannah V. Ludlow, at No. 445 Franklin avenue. He has lived with her since he was acquitted of a charge of attempting to starve his young wife.

Mrs. Stratton is sixty years her husband's junior. The family were much angered at his marriage, but he defied them, and he intended to wed the woman of his choice and did so. This was six years ago. Some two years ago a neighbor noticed that the old man took his meals at a restaurant and when he left the house was careful to lock the door after him. An investigation followed, and the young wife was found in bed almost dead from hunger. The old man was placed under arrest, and had a hearing in the Myrtle Avenue Police Court. In the meantime the neighbors had furnished Mrs. Stratton with food and, after a consultation with her aged husband, she decided to provide for her substantially for the rest of his days. Since then they have not lived together. He went to his daughter's home and she to a boarding house.

It was Mrs. Stratton's custom to visit her husband two afternoons each week. During a call early last week there was a scene between her and Mrs. Ludlow, in which the young wife was ordered from the house. The following day the old man started out for a walk, and failed to return. The facts were laid before the police Thursday, and Chief McKelvey ordered a general alarm sent out.

Mrs. Ludlow said yesterday that there had been trouble between her and her father married his last wife, who was formerly a Miss Nellie Roth, of Freehold, N. J., she thought her stepmother had abducted the old man.

"I met him quite by accident at the corner of Washington and Gates avenues," she said, "and he informed me that he was not happy at his daughter's home and insisted upon coming with me. Of course, I consented, and brought him here."

MRS. MUGFORD IS DEFIANT.
Her Husband and Her Daughter Are Trying to Have Her Dispossessed, but She Refuses to Move Out.

Constable John J. Boyle, attached to the Lee Avenue Civil Court, Williamsburg, is being criticized for not executing a judgment of dispossession against the wife of L. Mugford, of No. 875 Putnam avenue.

The troubles of the Mugfords have been frequently ventilated in the family courts, where both ventilated their grievances. The couple were married in November last. Mugford is about sixty years old and his wife fifty-seven. Mugford was believed to have a fortune.

Eight days after the wedding they both found themselves in Justice Harriman's court, where both ventilated their grievances. A separation followed, Mrs. Mugford remaining in possession of the Putnam avenue house, while Mugford took a furnished room on the opposite side of the street.

Schultzman gave a judgment against Mrs. Mugford were brought by Mrs. Pauline J. Hovey, a daughter of Mugford, who owns the Putnam avenue property. Justice Schmitz gave judgment against Mrs. Mugford, and Constable Boyle was given the papers to serve.

Mugford and his daughter claimed yesterday that the constable had refused to serve the papers. They were unable to find Justice Schmitz.

The constable said that the reason he did not dispossess Mrs. Mugford was because her name was not on the papers. He found several deputy sheriffs in charge, who had levied on the goods as the result of judgments against Mrs. Mugford.

Boyd declared that Mrs. Hovey did not want him to put his things in the house belonging to her father, and not wishing to be a party to what he considered a conspiracy, he withdrew.

AT BROOKLYN THEATRES.

Among the Attractions for the Present Week Are Rice's "1492" and "The Two Escutcheons."

Gorgeous costumes, dazzling scenic display and brilliant electrical effects will greet the audience at the Amphion Theatre to-morrow evening. Rice's Surprise Party, in the sparkling historical extravaganza, "1492," will be the attraction. This amusing melange embraces everything within the range of comic opera, burlesque and vaudeville. It comes newly appurpelled and improved, being really a mastodon of elysium of up-to-date features, and possesses a tout ensemble better equipped than ever for general education. New specialties, dances and satires have been introduced without number, and the ever-popular second act, representing Fifth Avenue, presents new and original features. Mark Smith will interpret Isabella, Queen of Spain. John Browne, the whistler; Miss Zeina Ravelston, the American Vesta Riley, and the Franco-Algerian baritone, known as the Black De Geszke, are among the specialty features.

"The Two Escutcheons" was received with so much favor at the Park Theatre during the past week that Manager Knowles has decided that it is well to let the company of comedians keep the patrons of that house laughing for another week. The Columbia Theatre will be closed during Holy Week, and on Monday evening, April 6, Joseph Jefferson will begin a week's engagement, opening in his world-renowned character, "Tip Van Winkle," which will be given on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings and at the Saturday matinee. On Friday and Saturday nights he will present a dramatization of Dickens's novel, "The Cricket on the Hearth," and Morton's comedy, "Lemon Me Five Shillings." Mr. Jefferson will be assisted by a carefully selected company, and entirely new scenery and accessories will be used for each performance.

An Alleged Clergyman Locked Up.
A young man of clerical appearance was found wandering about Fifth avenue, Brooklyn, yesterday. His stop was unsteady. At the Bergen Street Station, where he was locked up, he gave the name of John Barry, and said he was a clergyman, living at No. 10 Cheever place. No such person is known at that address.

Mrs. Martin Finds a Home.
Mrs. Henrietta Martin, who tried to jump from a Brooklyn elevated train Friday morning, because of her destitute condition, found a friend yesterday. Mrs. Mary J. Murtha, of No. 483 Henry street, aunt of Mrs. Martin's husband, told Justice Harriman that she would care for her unfortunate niece.

Brooklyn Troopers on the Road.
Troop C, the new Brooklyn cavalry organization, made its first appearance in public yesterday. It left the North Portland avenue armory and started for a practice ride to Bensonhurst. On the way the members went through various cavalry tactics. They returned at 6 o'clock.

CISCO WILL PAY NO FINE.

Jamaica Colored Man Insists That His Children Shall Go to the White School or Remain at Home.

Jamaica, L. I., March 28.—Samuel Cisco, the colored man who was fined $5 for refusing to send his children to the colored school here, is still defiant. He will go to jail, he says, before he pays the fine. The school for white children is only four blocks from Cisco's house, while that for colored children is a mile away. Cisco is a taxpayer and will fight the case to the bitter end.

Judge Barnard has overruled the demurrer interposed by the Board of Education against the grant of writ of alternative mandamus compelling it to allow colored children in Jamaica to attend the same schools as white children. The action which was decided against the Board is that brought by John T. Jackson and other colored residents, in September last. Their children tried to enter the white school, but were denied admission and the mandamus proceedings were commenced. Trust Officer Wright arrested the two children of Stephen White, two children of John Cisco, one child of Joseph White, and one of Jacob Minicelli. These cases will come up before Justice of the Peace B. Frank Wood.
